RAILROAD CASUALTIES.
The casualties on American railways due to accidents are increasing faster than mileage, faster than the increase of freight and passenger traffic, faster than the operating expenses or gross income, faster than the money spent on rolling stock or improvements, and faster than the total number of passengers carried, and railroad casualty statistics for the past three years seem to bear out this statement. The total number of killed and injured in railroad accidents for 1902 was 12,619; for 1903, 49,531, and for 1904 it was 55,031. These figures are appalling in their magnitude, and the remarkable increase in such casualties seems absolutely inexcusable in the light of present day ingenuity. Unquestionably the greater number of accidents are due to a disregard of rules and methods of signaling, and accidents resulting from such disregard are undoubtedly the most disastrous, while those resulting from bad equipment are less disastrous. For the latter cause, proper legislation as to equipment and frequent inspection under legislative authority is the remedy. As to the first cause, the best prevention is, as suggested by a writer in the Engineering Magazine, to make it physically impossible for an engineer to disregard signals. He should be stopped by a mechanical device, the release of which is beyond his control. The writer referred to declares that such a device is not as difficult and that the setting of the block signal could be also be made to set the engineer's brakes. It is full time this matter was given more serious consideration. But in the name of humanity, all precautions within reach should be employed to minimize their number and disastrous results.

It is stated that a negro man bled to death in Newport News the other day from being stabbed. The account says he applied to several negro doctors, who refused to stop the blood and save his life because he had no money. If a man who refuses to save another from a burning building is criminally guilty, it seems to us a doctor who allows a fellow-man to bleed to death because he has no money to pay with is equally guilty, and his license to practice medicine should be revoked.

The people of Edinburgh are very much disturbed by the noise produced by the travel over the granite-paved streets of the city, and are calling loudly for other paving material. It is said the authorities are thinking of substituting hard wood where the grade of the streets will permit it.

Gov. Vardaman has declared, in advance of an invitation, that he will not attend the inauguration of President Roosevelt. Well, suppose he does not, he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he was not missed.

Was Badly Shaken Up in Railroad Wreck at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 28.—A collision occurred here in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad at Union Station between the Northern Central Harrisburg express train enroute from Washington and the peninsula express train of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington railway, the latter being empty and shifting at the time. On the Harrisburg express were a large number of Mystic Shriners of that city and other passengers, including Admiral Schley.

The following persons were injured: George Ungle, engineer of Harrisburg express, hurt internally; Rudolph Brunetner, car cleaner, broken arm and cuts on forehead; S. S. WAS THROWING CHILD IN AIR
Bystander Interfered and Killed Father in Self-Defense.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 28.—At Plaines, a suburb of Wilkesbarre, Robert Elliott plunged a knife into the neck of John Clarke. The jugular vein was severed, and in one minute Clarke was dead. Elliott claimed he used the knife in self-defense.

Clarke had been drinking and was abusing his family and a warrant had been issued for him. Before it could be served Clarke began throwing one of his children in the air and threatened to kill it. Elliott interfered to save the child, and Clarke struck at him with a butcher knife, and Elliott drew his pocket knife and struck Clarke in the neck. Elliott surrendered to the officers and was committed to jail to await action by the coroner.

CAROLINE.
Christmas at County Line Church—A Thank Offering—Personalities.
Croston, Va., Dec. 28, 1904.
Despite the inclement weather, County Line church was well filled on Christmas day with a merry, generous, good natured crowd. There was first a very fine and appropriate talk by the pastor, and then the crowd was entertained for about half an hour by the little children in speeches and dialogues. A solo was sweetly sung by Miss Olivia Campbell, and a good humorous and timely speech by (Capt. C. T. Smith) closed the exercises before the thank offering. Then, behold, a sight worth seeing and seldom witnessed elsewhere, when the people packed the aisles and crowded one another in their efforts to reach the table and place upon it their offering to the Lord. The greenback, silver and copper rained down upon that table until the band-some sum of $34.40 was reached. But this was not all, for County Line had to extend hospitality to not only its members, but the strangers within its doors. The ladies had provided cakes and the candies and raisins must have come from Santa Claus, for there was enough of all to feed twice as many, but those present ate their double share, and all dispersed thankful in their hearts to be among the number to thus enjoy a Christmas day.

Miss Margaret and Florence Wood and Florence Connolly, of Richmond, are spending the Christmas with Mrs. A. W. Davis. All are glad to welcome back the bright merry girls of last summer. Mrs. T. H. Chewning is spending the Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hickey, of Penola.

FIRE IN LANCASTER
Store and Pickle Factory Burned at White Stone Wharf.

The store-house and stock of goods, also the waiting room and pickle factory belonging to Cralle, Hubbard and James, at White Stone Wharf, Lancaster county, was destroyed by fire together with three hundred and twenty-five dollars belonging to the firm early Saturday morning. The fire, which is of an unknown origin, started in the store-room and had gained such headway that the occupants of the upper room, Charles McKenry and Dick Davenport, the wharf agent, narrowly escaped with their lives. The former lost seventy-five dollars in cash. Loss about $5,000; insurance $1,500, with Virginia State Insurance Company.

EXTORTION IN SPANG CASE
Father of Girl in Brooklyn Sanitarium Makes Statement.

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—Charles H. Spang, of Pittsburgh, who is in this city, and his counsel, Stephen C. Baldwin, of Brooklyn, made a statement regarding the habeas corpus proceedings instituted in Brooklyn in behalf of Mr. Spang's 17-year-old daughter, Mabel. They declare that the newspapers have a wrong idea of the case, and that there is no question of money in it, and that it is "merely a question of physical ailment which requires the care of specialists and the restraint of a sanitarium."

According to the statement, there is no difference of opinion between Mr. and Mrs. Spang as to whether their daughter should remain in the sanitarium. At the time of the commitment Mr. Spang was in France with his dying father, and Mrs. Spang communicated with him by cable, and it was with his full knowledge and consent that the legal step was taken. Mr. Spang denies that the daughter was locked in a bare room, and says she had every comfort desired. The statement concludes by intimating that the extortion of money is at the bottom of the case and that charges will be made against certain persons after the case shall have been ended.

HAYTIAN GRAPERS SENTENCED
Former President Sam Condemned to Life Imprisonment.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Dec. 28.—The court has rendered a judgment in default condemning former President Sam to imprisonment for life at hard labor for the alleged issue of fraudulent bonds. Madame Sam is sentenced to 15 years imprisonment, and several members of Sam's ministry and other high functionaries have been condemned to terms of imprisonment ranging from five to 15 years.

The judgment in default is the form usual under the legal procedure in France and some other countries where the persons convicted are out of the jurisdiction of the court. President Sam, members of his ministry, officers of the Bank of Hayti and relatives of the former president of the republic were accused by the government of President Nord, which succeeded the Sam administration in 1902, of having conspired for the fraudulent issue of from $200,000 to $850,000 of bonds. Thirty-three persons were accused, but of these only 13 were arrested, the others having left the country.

At latest advices former President Sam was living in the island of St. Thomas, D. W. I.

Murdered Family and Burned Home.
Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 27.—James Linkous, a Radford, Va., painter, was taken to Roanoke to prevent lynching at the hands of infuriated citizens after a coroner's inquest had returned a verdict that he murdered his wife and adopted son Christmas morning and burned his home to remove evidence of the crime. It is charged that Linkous beat the brains of his victims out with a blunt instrument and then fired the building. When the building was burning briskly he gave an alarm. The town's volunteer department turned out. Linkous' actions were suspicious, and the hose was kept on Mrs. Linkous' sleeping room and her form was not badly burned.

Two Million Pounds of Tobacco.
Sales of leaf tobacco on the Richmond market for the first three weeks of December aggregated nearly two million pounds, the exact figures being 1,862,526 pounds. Sales for the three months of the 1904 season were 3,295,312, an excess over the quarter of the previous year of nearly two million pounds.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATIONS.
The Christmas entertainments of the Sunday Schools were largely attended, and of great interest, especially to the young people. They were as follows:
ST. GEORGE'S EPISCOPAL.
The Sunday School of St. George's church braved the storm of Xmas eve, and forced out into the streets to participate in the annual Xmas celebration and to meet Santa Claus. There was a brief Xmas service in the church, at which many of the Xmas hymns and beautiful carols were sung. A large number of prizes was given for fair attendance and for lessons well read during the year. At the conclusion of the service the children marched to the Sunday school room, where they were greeted by Santa Claus, standing in the door of a log cabin and flanked by Xmas trees and surrounded by good things for the scholars and friends. Santa Claus was a feature of this year's celebration, being a well known society gent, who also figures most successfully in comic opera and song before the foot lights. At the close of the celebration he held quite a reception for the very young and many a tout went home rejoicing in the fact that he had seen and shaken hands with Santa Claus.

THE ANNUAL XMAS CELEBRATION.
The annual Xmas celebration of the Presbyterian Sunday School was held at the Memorial Chapel Monday at 10 o'clock. The handsome interior was tastefully decorated with evergreen ropes, white appropriate texts were worked in ivy letters upon the walls. A pyramid of tartelet bags, was at the far end. The following programme was successfully carried out under the direction of Superintendent J. W. Adams and Assistant Superintendent S. G. Howison: Organ voluntary, Miss Beale; Carol, The Wondrous Star; responsive reading, Luke 2: 8-20; invocation, concluding with Lord's prayer, by whole school standing; Carol, Do the Angel-Sing; Awards of Bibles and Testaments presented by Dr. Howison in the name of the church for catechism recitation. METHODIST.
In defiance of sleety pavements and misty atmosphere several hundred friends and visitors filled the Methodist church to enjoy the Sunday school Christmas celebration Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. The school assembled in the Sunday school room and marched by classes into the main auditorium, as the organist, Miss Hattie Cox, played the Epworth League March. When all were seated, the following program was announced by the superintendent, Mr. P. V. D. Conway: Song, From the Pear Tree; recitation, Star of Hope, by Lloyd Knight, Eleanor Knight, and Edith Rose; George Melville, Jeanette Stearns; Louise Thomas; recitation, The Everlasting Mountains, solo part by Miss Lettie Rose and chorus by the school; Song, The Christmas Tree, by the school; Distribution of prizes to the following scholars: Alene Shackelford, Ila Shackelford, Susie Shenton, Jas. Marsh, Jennie Stearns, Mary Jackson, Jeanette Stearns, J. Ingram, Gladys Jackson, Annie Wright, John Herndon, Nelson Herndon, Willard McMillan, Harry Kendall, Kirby Kendall, Harvey Goodman, and little Winifred J. Herndon, a special prize for bringing in new scholars. Song, The Christmas Tree, by the school; Benediction by the pastor. The school then marched back into the school room as the organist played, and were each supplied with a bag of usual Christmas good things. The exercises were liberally enjoyed, and the entertainment heartily enjoyed by all.

CATHOLIC.
There was no formal Sunday school celebration at St. Mary's Catholic church. After 11 o'clock mass on Sunday morning, the good things were distributed to the children.

BAPTIST.
Despite the rain and sleety walking, the large Baptist church was filled before time for the exercises to begin Monday night, and a great many had to return to their homes unable to gain admission. The church was beautifully and artistically decorated, and the large school occupied nearly the entire floor. At 7:30 the exercises began with Scripture reading and prayer by the pastor, Rev. A. S. Williams. Capt. E. S. Quinn, superintendent, announced the long list of scholars entitled to prizes. The committee in charge of the entertainment then took matters in hand and gave an elegant entertainment, consisting of music, drama, and play, the parts in which were splendidly taken and carried out by children who were thoroughly drilled.

THE PAPER TRUST SUED
Attorney General Files Petition in U. S. District Court.
ALLEGES UNLAWFUL COMBINE
Petition Declares That All Competition Has Been Restricted and Price of Paper Greatly Increased — Injunction Asked For.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 28.—Attorney General Moody, for the United States, through United States District Attorney Haupt and Frank B. Kellogg and James M. Beck, special assistant attorneys general for the United States, filed a petition in the United States district court, in which he makes the General Paper company as principal defendant and 22 other paper and pulp companies, known as the paper trust, party defendants in a suit to enjoin them and restrain them from doing business through the General Paper company as the sales agent, in violation of the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of the act of congress approved July 2, entitled "an act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies."

The petition alleges that the defendants entered into an agreement to combine and control the sale of the product of the different companies through the General Paper company, in that the General Paper company regulated prices, sales and shipments and territory for the sale of the same, and after deducting operating expenses of the General Paper company divided the surplus among the members of the corporation.

The petition recites that the General Paper company was organized under the laws of Wisconsin May 28, 1900, with a capital stock of $100,000, divided into 1000 shares, which were distributed among and are now held by certain of the defendants named, and that later the others were taken into the combination, naming them in the order in which they entered the combination, and goes on to state that the General Paper company became the exclusive selling agent for the defendants, with absolute power to control the output of the various mills, fix the price of all paper sold and to whom and upon what terms and conditions the paper should be sold; and into what states and places it shall be shipped and what publishers and other customers each mill shall supply.

The petition alleges that in consequence of the combination all competition in the manufacture, sale and distribution of paper had been restricted and the price of all paper produced greatly increased, particularly that of news print paper, which has been increased about 50 per cent.

The court is asked to declare the alleged combination unlawful and that the defendants be perpetually enjoined from doing any act in pursuance of the same.

That the General Paper company be enjoined from acting as sales agent for the other defendants, and that the latter be enjoined from continuing their arrangement with the General Paper company. The court is also asked to direct the defendants to come into court and answer all questions relating to the charges in the petition which may be asked.

PERIL IN STRANDED STEAMER
Fears Felt For Captain and Crew of Wrecked Drumelder.

New York, Dec. 28.—Efforts to learn whether Captain Nicholson and the crew of the British tramp steamer Drumelder are still aboard the vessel, which is aground on the bar at Fire Island, have been unsuccessful, and the life savers are still watching from the beach in the hope of communicating with the ship.

Hidden in a black fog and pounded by fierce seas rolling from the south-east, the steamer was in imminent danger of going to pieces. If her captain and crew of 32 men are still in the ship they face an almost certain death in the heavy surf breaking over the sandy beach.

The cargo of the Drumelder is valued at about $600,000. It consists of copper, steel, oil and pig lead. In her hold there is also an automobile valued at $10,000, which is consigned to France.

Many of them were badly bruised and hurt in their efforts to escape.

Miss Moore's Book.
Miss Carrie Pickett Moore, the daughter of Mr. J. B. Moore, who has his home at Boston, has placed upon the Christmas book market, through her publishers, Whitte & Shepperson, "a collection of tested Virginia recipes," under the title of "The Way to the Heart."

In her introduction, Miss Moore says: "The following recipes have been tested, and I have found them correct in every proportion; also mixing and serving. They are a collection of old Virginia recipes, many of them handed down and used for three generations."

Having tried them, I feel justified in recommending them to the public as being safe and sure, that is if the rules are carefully followed for mixing and preparing the dishes. All of them are not my own, some having been given me by old friends, but I have used them so successfully that I feel they belong to me by right of long usage. I trust that the housekeeper into whose hands this little book may fall, will find it a help to her, and that in the future it will make cooking a pleasure and not a care."

The introduction is the best review the book could possibly have. It will not fail to be appreciated by sensible, practical women. The arrangement of the recipes, which are clearly and concisely written, is excellent.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The book is now being sold in Fredericksburg and quite a number of copies have been taken. The receipts are the finest, and every housekeeper in Fredericksburg ought to have one.
